MANY DELEGATES AT NOTRE DAME ALUMNAE CONVENTION HELD AT LOCAL ACADEMY YESTERDAY

Almost 200 delegates from Worcester, Chicopee, Boston, Cambridge, Watertown, Milford, Peabody, Somerville, Lowell and Lynn attended the fifth annual convention of the Massachusetts Federation of Notre Dame alumnae in the Notre Dame academy yesterday. Incidentally, yesterday's gathering marked the first time that the organization has convened at the Lowell academy.

Under the direction of Miss Carmen Rediker, the delegates were transported from the depot to the meeting place in automobiles, twenty machines being employed in this service. Arriving at the academy in Adams street, the visitors were greeted by their local associates. The library and dining hall were attractively decorated with pink and white May blossoms, while the assembly hall and chapel were neatly adorned with cut flowers and palms.

The morning session opened at 11:30 o'clock, prayer being offered by the sister superior of the Lowell academy, followed by an address of welcome by Miss Anna Devine, president of the local alumnae, who expressed her pleasure at being honored to welcome the delegates in behalf of the association in Lowell. "During the past two years," she said, "we have been associated in many and various ways that have united us with a bond that cannot be broken."

"Today we meet again—to carry on our good work, and to strengthen the foundation of this structure called Notre Dame."

"Let us renew the ties of friendship and pledge allegiance again to the ideals instilled into our hearts by the Sisters of Notre Dame."

And today our dear sisters and the members of the church extend a gracious greeting to you and pray that this hour be a happy one, and to that end, I bid you welcome."

Election of Officers
Following the address of welcome, the first business of the session was the election of officers for the next two years. The following officers were chosen:

President, Miss Anna Johnson, Worcester; first vice president, Miss Agnes J. Curry, Roxbury; second vice president, Miss Belle V. McLaughlin, Milford; recording secretary, Miss Mary Hines, South Boston; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Thomas A. Tobin, the Fenway; treasurer, Miss Anna Devine, Lowell.

Allen, Ohio; second vice president, Miss Margaret Sullivan, Washington; recording secretary, Mrs. John J. Buckley, Massachusetts; corresponding secretary, Miss Grace W. Kelley, Massachusetts; treasurer, Mrs. Brendan Hall, Philadelphia.

National state committees: Chairman (national), Mrs. Martha C. Dumber, Ohio; chairman (state), Miss Ellen Menckner, Fenway.

The morning session was brought to a close with a banquet in the dining hall.

New York Will Be Branded as

Slacker if Gov. Smith Signs

Wet Bill, Says Wheeler

NEW YORK, May 21.—New York state will be branded as a slacker, and bootleggers from other states will adopt it as a center from which to operate, if Governor Smith signs the repeal of the Mullin-Gage law, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America, said today in an address before the Baptist ministers' meeting.

"The plight of the people of New York, should the repeal measure be signed, would be like that of the family of a man who would send a gliding invitation to pillage and ravish his home," he declared.

Proposition to Sell Lowell Jail to Boston & Maine

a population of over 50,000. His said such improvements would add millions of dollars to the city's valuation. The purchase of the old Washington Tavern by the city is now under consideration," continued Mr. Casgrove, and he said that the city of Lowell and its councilors believe that the sale of the central fire station, located in Maine and Palmer streets, and the Market St. building, which houses the police station and district court, would bring in revenues that would almost cover the cost of the purchase of the tavern and the erection of a modern building in which would be located the central fire station, the police station and district court and the board of health office. In addition we would like to have Gorham street widened from Tower's corner to Davis square, he said, that would make the thoroughfare which is one of the main arteries in and out of Boston, a most important one.

Mr. Casgrove said he believed the widening of Gorham street would bring more traffic into Lowell and this would be very beneficial to the merchants of that locality and the city at large. Referring to the Lowell jail proposition, the speaker said that he feels that the Boston & Maine railroad should purchase the site and erect thereon one of the finest railroad stations in the world. Such an enterprise, he said, would relieve traffic in Middlesex street and would show that Lowell is a live city. He intimated to the commissioners that the unsightly and dangerous walls surrounding the jail should be taken down at once. He felt that the tearing down of the walls would eliminate accidents and foul play, which are apt to happen at that spot at any time, as the walls make the street dark and afford a hiding place for criminals. "All we are here for," continued Mr. Casgrove, "is to have you gentlemen interested in the proposition and request that you take the matters under advisement, and if you deem it advisable you may confer with the railroad officials in an endeavor to have them interested in the matter."

Commissioner Barlow said he did not believe the buildings would be of any use for a railroad station. He explained that the cells in the buildings were built into the structure and it would be a difficult task later for business purposes and that in Cambridge there was some agitation for locating the Central fire station in human square for years. The proposition, he said, was finally put through with the result that the district grew up considerably in commercial life. Now the business area of the district was the Central fire station removed to another part of the city in order that the commerce there may expand.

Mr. Casgrove said that meant improvements. He further stated that in his opinion the ambulance station should be located in the police station building and the service handled by the police. "This is not a political party," he said, "for I have had enough of politics, but I feel that one two good things would prove of great benefit to the entire city. Lowell is a deserving town for it has a good citizenship, which is composed of industrious and law-abiding citizens."

The members of the council were extended a vote of thanks by the county commissioners, who assured them that their proposition would be given due consideration.

Death Was Not Due to Criminal Negligence
Continued

The above finding, containing an interesting sidelight on cable splicing, and made public this morning, is appended:

A part of the plant of the Lowell Electric Light company, a corporation doing business in Lowell, in said county, consists of manholes that are located in different parts of the city, the same being about 7 feet deep and 5 feet wide, not quite circular in shape.

On the sides of these manholes are cables in parallel rows that contain incandescent lamps, which pass an electric current for use in furnishing light and power; not infrequently the insulated surface wears off, requiring replacement, and in addition thereto cables have to be spliced and other work done upon them. The workmen employed at this work are called splicers and those who assist them are called splicer helpers. There is a manhole near the corner of Prescott and Central streets, in this city, that is owned and made use of by said Lowell Electric Light company and it became necessary to have repair work done there on the 20th of April last. About that time a great deal of repair work was being done by said Lowell Electric Light company, and to assist in the work of splicing cables, one Charles Arvidson, an employee of McGonigle and Towne, underground contractors, doing business in the city of Boston, in said commonwealth, was employed by a foreman of said Lowell Electric Light company, authorized to do so, to assist as helper to a cable wire splicer in work being done in said manhole.

At some time in the afternoon of said day Charles Arvidson, went into said manhole to the bottom of it, and in course of his said work the palms of both hands either came directly in contact with a wire not completely insulated or so near to such wire that he received severe burns and an electric shock that caused his death. Some of his fellow workmen who were near the manhole heard a sizzling or a crackling sound that indicated to them that an electric current was escaping from the wires. Upon going into the manhole said Arvidson was found standing on the ground looking upward and unconscious from the shock that he had received. He was removed to the surface by his fellow workmen.

MANY SCHOOLS IN MARYLAND CLOSED TO ALLOW CHILDREN TO PICK STRAWBERRIES

(Special to The Sun.)

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Those of us who eat strawberries "all the way from Florida to Canada," as the saying goes, will be interested to know that the department of agriculture predicts a bumper crop this year, which also means a record breaking crop of strawberry pickers.

Pickers are in such demand that the Children's Bureau is investigating conditions, for it has been found that some schools in Maryland have been obliged to close on account of the withdrawal of children of school age to join the pickers who move from place to place during the berry season. They migrate as the crops ripen, and the department states that in more than some instances, colored schools have been left without pupils. Pickers migrate in whole communities as the crops ripen. They swarm the Maryland and Virginia districts. Not less than 8000 children left Philadelphia schools last year to join the berry pickers. It is not the migration of pickers from that city. Swarms of berry pickers move from place to place carrying with them scanty household goods. If the children are big enough they are put to picking; if too small they are taken along merely because they can't be left behind. In one school district it was learned that five out of every six children had been employed as berry pickers last year. They are the children of foreigners, as a rule, and in most cases the parents do not speak English.

It is not so much the short absence from school that troubles the children's bureau, as the unsanitary and undesirable manner of living in which the children are subjected. More than a fourth of the children thus employed are under ten years of age.

One instance of "housing" tells the story—one shanty was found to exist in Maryland which was only one story high and used to shelter a great number of persons. This little shack was not divided into rooms, but boards only 12 inches high divided it into pens, one of which was allotted to each family. Here the family lived and slept. Straw was strown on the floor for beds, and the low 12 inch partition was the only attempt made at seclusion or privacy. In fact it was not erected for any other purpose than to keep families from overlapping the space allotted them. There was no attempt at segregation of men, women or children, but all were herded together. The pens average only 6 feet square in size. One New Jersey farmer attempted to improve conditions by offering to send children to a nearby school at his own expense. His offer was not only rejected by the parents, but he was told that unless the children were permitted to work with their parents, the entire community of pickers would "move on" and leave his crop to rot on the vines. City authorities have no power to act outside the city limits, so it is said, and as the farmers are at their wits' end to get the crop picked in time to save heavy losses, deplorable conditions continue to exist.

The children are subjected to a migratory life; each camp is occupied about two weeks; the danger of infectious diseases is great; the moral influences are of the lowest.

The children's bureau found that in one section of the strawberry district seven-eighths of the children of school age had worked at berry picking last year.

Children are also used for transplanting berry plants. One child walks about the planted field and drops a plant at regular distances, a larger child or a "grown-up" follows setting the plants in holes which he digs. If planting is machine done, two boys take a machine which has a low platform on which they sit, and they drop the plant as they scurry along from row to row.

Thus what stops the children's bureau on take to make the work and the housing more sanitary and less demoralizing is not known. But it is understood they will make an effort to improve conditions. It must be remembered, however, that the home life of these children in many places from which they come, is usually of a low type, so the contrast is not as great as it would be to children taken from the well regulated cities of New England.

The health laws of New England; the child labor laws of New England and the sanitary requirements of New England set a pace that is not followed in certain southern districts, especially on isolated farms of the south even the instances shown in the berry pickers' camps may be extreme.

All the same it's going to be a great year for New England strawberry shortcake.

"LIGHTNIN" WILL HIT HERE MONDAY, MAY 28

"Lightnin," the most successful comedy and biggest hit in the history of the American theatre, and produced by John Golden, who has to his credit such well-known successes as "The First Year," "Turn of the Mind," "Thank You and Good Night," will be seen here at last, arrangements having been completed for its presentation at the Lowell Opera House for two nights beginning Monday, May 28.

"Lightnin" is already known to almost every theatregoer through having been run for three years at the Gaiety theatre, New York, two years at the Blackstone in Chicago, and seven months at the Hollis Street theatre in Boston. During this time it has been witnessed by more than five million people.

For its setting, "Lightnin" has the great-a point on the dividing line between California and Nevada. The story is serious and humorous by turn, with a luscious, shiffling old man who reminds one of the elder Jefferson, a flippant Van Winkle, as his central character. He is the very quintessence of masculine frailty, a despicable failure who has been plenty in his time and is not averse to talking about it. If crime happens to be the topic of conversation, "Lightnin" has been a swarm of on across the desert in the dead of winter, without losing one.

When not romancing, "Lightnin" is a perfectly named because of a deep and abiding business—his ex-officio proprietor of the little hotel that is the very heart of the divorce colony. Lightnin himself puts in his time roasting the hills, regaling his cronies with the latest news of the divorce colony, and spending his pension money—he had been the first man to "split" in '61, for liquor.

"Lightnin" can be seen in a most appealing and picturesque role, affording full opportunity for the display of those levity and roasting which have made it a popular success. The play is a high, breathing personality that will be enshrined in the memory of theatregoers for years to come.

The cast, which will be headed by Percy Pollock, whose English stage and screen fame has been the talk of Boston, and who will be joined by the same players who have been identified with "Lightnin" since its first night, includes all those whose conspicuous efforts helped to make "Lightnin" the tremendous success that it is.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE
Starting Tuesday matinee, Lowell theatregoers will enjoy the biggest treat of the present theatrical season in the person of America's greatest tragedienne, Nance O'Neil, in her big Broadway success, "The Passion Flower." Mr. Luttrecker, owner of the Opera House, is taking this method of the farthest west of the Atlantic, Nance O'Neil, the star of the theatre, has been playing at the Lowell for some time, due to the fact that her plays have always demanded $2500 prices, she certainly is well known for her fame as one of the greatest of the Bolshoi stars has spread in every city and town in the country. It is only necessary to say that in the role of Rahimunda, the seduced wife and mother, Miss O'Neil has found perhaps the greatest role of her brilliant career. She contrives to reveal the heart of the seduced wife and mother until the audience is not watching merely acting but is seeing something real and living and never to be forgotten.

The rest of the cast is made up of Alfred Hickman, another Broadway star and the popular Luttrecker players. Seats are now on sale.

THE STRAND
The Strand, the old Bill Gaud's famous play, which has been adapted for the screen, is now being presented in a most favorable manner among particular movie patrons who visit The Strand. Richard Dix, Max Baucus and others of screen note are engaged in the cast and Maurice Tourneur is the producer. Faces that carry with them every assurance of a genuine super production, it will be shown today, tomorrow and Wednesday. See it.

The second feature of the bill presented by the Strand is "The Love Letter." These old plays are a comedy, weekly and "The Love Letter" is a comedy of the heart and soul. Don't forget to see this great comedy in seeing the Strand.

TO MAKE WORLD COURT ISSUE IN CHURCHES

CHICAGO, May 21.—Dr. Cornelius Weidman, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church of New York, said at an address last night that an attempt is being made to free the world court proposal from politics, by making it an issue in the churches of the country.

He said some time ago he received from the United States department of state a telegram asking him to bring up the question of a world court from a religious standpoint, either in his own church or before some other religious body.

"If the church took up the issue," Dr. Weidman said, "politics would disappear and a feeling of righteousness would take its place with the world court idea. Then we would be on our way to a real reconstruction."

Dr. Weidman added that no definite progress has thus far been made by the world court religious advocates.

CALLS UPON MINISTERS TO SIGN PLEDGE CARD

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 21.—William Jennings Bryan is expected to introduce a resolution at today's session of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America which provides that every Presbyterian minister, teacher, student and officer in schools of the denomination sign a pledge of total abstinence.

The proposal, which Mr. Bryan placed before a "popular meeting" yesterday, held under the auspices of the committee on Sabbath observance and prohibition and public morals, received the unanimous approval of those in attendance.

The Red Cross, it was announced, will pay all overhead expenses in connection with the collection and distribution of funds now being made, so that all will apply directly to relief work.

Community services were held here last night for those who perished in the disaster.

MEETINGS OF UNITARIAN AMERICAN AND TURKISH ANNIVERSARY WEEK DELEGATES CONFER

BOSTON, May 21.—The meetings of Unitarian anniversary week, begun yesterday, swung into consideration of business today. The annual meeting of the Unitarian ministerial union was held with the election of Rev. James C. Duncanson of Clinton as president. The vice presidents included:

Rev. Charles F. Potter of New York; Rev. George H. Badger, of Orlando, Fla.; Rev. John Mallick, Cincinnati, Ohio; Rev. George Gilmore of Denver, Colo.; Rev. William O. Elliot, Jr., of Portland, Ore.; and Rev. Sydney B. Snow of Montreal.

Rev. Martin S. Todgin of New Bedford, delivered the principal address reviewing his 25 years in the Unitarian ministry.

At a luncheon of the Unitarian social welfare agencies, Joseph Lee, president of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, said:

"The whole world is now in crying need of the revival of constructive liberalism, and that is precisely the service that the Unitarians better than any other group of people can supply. Every church meeting should be a good citizen, co-operating with all public and private agencies for the promotion of health, education and general well being."

"We are in especial need of the Puritan spirit at the present time," declared Mr. Lee, "for we are a people that has lost its way. We are possessed of no moral purpose that can mobilize our spiritual powers. All that the world hears from us is that we are feverishly seeking money, that we still burn people at the stake, that in this crisis of a tortured world, we are willing to help in ways in general, but will not do so in any way in which the thing can be done."

"A program of citizenship for a local church," issued by ten prominent Unitarian social workers, and endorsed by nearly five ministers and laymen, was presented at the luncheon. This program declares that "since even individual characters chiefly the product of our relations with our fellows, and since the spiritual ideals for which the church stands are the necessary

LAUSANNE, May 21. (By the Associated Press).—Preliminary conversations between the American and Turkish delegations are now proceeding with the object of establishing a common basis for a revision of the antiquated Turco-American treaties that will prepare the way for formal negotiations.

The existing deadlock over the question of legal guarantees for foreigners, however, makes the opening negotiations somewhat remote. Nevertheless, the status of foreign religious, educational and charitable institutions in Turkey, has already been settled so that Minister Grew is not likely to have any difficulty in treating that problem.

From the beginning of the conference, Ismet Pasha has assured both the American delegates and such prominent missionary workers as Dr. James L. Barton of Boston, that every facility and protection will be afforded American institutions.

Moreover, in 1907, John G. A. Leishman, then American minister at Constantinople, then negotiated a treaty with Turkey extending to the United States, all the rights embodied in the Mitylene pact made with France years before. This recognized the official character of foreign institutions and accorded them the right to hold real estate.

Experts of the American state department stationed at Constantinople are here ready to assist Minister Grew and his associates on the United States delegation in the work of negotiating the new treaty.

Could Hardly Do Housework Before Tanlac Ended Troubles, States Mrs. Rameau—"Feels Like a New Person"

"Both my husband and myself attribute our good health to Tanlac, and take every opportunity to recommend it," declared Mrs. Fred Rameau, 190 Temple st., West Fitchburg, Mass. "This medicine cured my troubles more than a year ago, and I have felt splendid ever since."

"Indigestion and rheumatism pulled my strength down to where I was so weak and nervous that I would get so faint I had to stop my housework and lie down. Soreness and gas on my stomach took away the pleasure of eating. I suffered greatly from heart palpitation and shortness of breath, and my appetite deserted me. The rheumatism was worse in my arms and legs, but sometimes I ached all over, and constipation made my misery much more intense."

"The Tanlac treatment gave me a perfect appetite and digestion, ended my rheumatism entirely, and I am feeling like a new person. We wouldn't think of being without Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

How to Have Beautiful Hair

To be charming and attractive, you must have beautiful hair. Beautiful hair is not a matter of luck, it is a matter of care. You can have beautiful hair if you shampoo it properly. Proper shampooing is what brings out all the natural beauty of the hair, and keeps it soft, fresh and abundant. Your hair should be washed frequently and regularly, using a good shampoo. But it cannot stand the hair in an ordinary soap. The free alkali in ordinary soap, when used, the scalp makes the hair brittle and ruins it. This is why millions of women everywhere, use Mulsified Coconut Oil Shampoo.

This clear, pure, and entirely greaseless product cannot possibly injure, and does not dry the scalp or make the hair brittle, no matter how often you use it. It also keeps the hair soft and supple, and cleanses the scalp and scalp thoroughly. Simply massage the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which comes out easily, and does not clog the scalp with dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and has the appearance of being much thicker and heavier than it really is. It leaves the scalp—free and the hair fine and silky, bright, fresh-looking and fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified Coconut Oil Shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive and a four ounce bottle lasts for months.

THE TWINS CAPTURED

QUICK AS TWO WINKS THEY SCRAMBLED UP A TREE

Rat a tat tat.
Rat a tat, rat a tat.
Rat a tat tat!

Nancy and Nick were sitting beside the road in Bing-Bang land wondering what to do next, when they heard the sound of a drum.

They looked up quickly and saw a company of soldiers coming.

"Quick! Let's hide!" said Nick. "They are in soldiers and if they see us they may put us both in prison because you helped me to escape."

So quick as two winks they scrambled up a tree right beside the road. And just in time—for with a few more rat a tat tats, the soldiers reached the very spot where the Twins had been sitting.

The soldiers never suspected that right over their heads two pairs of eyes were watching everything they did.

"Halt!" commanded Captain Row Legs.

Instantly the soldiers stood like statues. The drummer stopped rat a tatting, and everything was as quiet as a Quaker meeting.

"Arms rest! Fall out!" was the next command.

The Twins thought he was talking to them!

"My goodness!" whispered Nancy. "How did he know we were here? He isn't even looking at us."

"We won't fall out—so there!" she called down. "We'll climb down if you make us, but we won't fall!"

Captain Row Legs and Lieutenant Shiny Boots looked up in surprise, and instantly saluted when they saw who it was. "We were looking for you," the captain said.

"We just thought so," answered Nick. "That's why we hid."

"We have orders to take you to General Hishleibohy," said the Captain. "Climb on down."

There was nothing else to do. Down scrambled the Twins and got in line. Then the drum started to rat a tat again.

Away they all marched. Nancy and Nick wondered what was going to happen.

PITCHER GOES SIX YEARS BEFORE FIRST SHUTOUT

Pitcher Rolly Naylor of the Philadelphia Athletics had the big thrill of his major league career at Chicago Saturday, May 12.

Working against the Chicago White Sox, Naylor scored a 5 to 0 victory over Gleason's tribe. That shutout was the first that Naylor has ever pitched in the big show, although he came to Connie Mack in 1917.

In a career spread over a half dozen years Naylor has pitched many a shut ball game for Mack, but in all that time he has never succeeded in holding the opposition ransom until his recent exhibition against the White Sox.

Scarcely a time he has been on the verge of scoring a shutout only to have the break of the game rob him of the glory at the last minute.

Naylor did not play during the season of 1918, doing his bit in the World war that year.

No collection could have been more jubilant than was Naylor when the shutout was a reality. He tossed his hat higher and let out a louder shout than any college hero could have possibly done.

Make THE Backyard Pay

Extension Horticulturist, United States

Raspberries are the second of our early fruits. There are three types of raspberries, red, black and purple. The red type differs from the others in its habit of growth and its method of forming new plants from the roots.

The black and purple types form new plants by the tips of the canes bending down and taking root in the soil.

Good varieties of the red type are Cherokee, London Marberry and Banner or St. Regis. Among the good black varieties are the Cumberland, Grogan, Farmer and Kansas. Five good varieties of the dull purple are Cardinal, Columbian, Haymaker, Royal and Shafter. Less than 15 or 20 plants of each variety should be planted for the ordinary family. The plants should be set at least 2 by 3 feet and tied to stakes.

Raspberries want rich deep soil and plenty of manure and fertilizer every year. The fruit is borne on wood of last year's growth so that after the spring fruiting period the old canes should all be pruned out. Pinching the heart out of the growing canes when about 3 feet in height will cause the branches to form. The exception is the Banner or St. Regis which frequently bears a spring and fall crop. Other raspberries have this characteristic to a limited extent.

The methods of securing two crops from the Banner or St. Regis is as follows: After the spring crop is gathered the old canes are pruned out and the tips of the new canes are not pinched. The canes are kept growing well into the early fall when they blossom and produce a crop of fruit.

Following the fall crop or at some time late in winter the canes are tipped and when they start the new growth in the spring they throw out numerous short side shoots on which the spring crop is borne. Following the spring crop prune out the old canes and repeat each year until the plants become weakened.

In the meantime make a new planting. As many as 5 or 5 quarts of fall crop red raspberries may be gathered from a row 50 or 10 feet long each week over a period of three or four weeks. Around Hammond, N. J., hundreds of crates of fall crop red raspberries are produced each year.

It should be borne in mind, however, that raspberries do not thrive everywhere. Especially is this true of the South Atlantic and Gulf Coast states. The climate of parts of the northwest is also too severe for raspberries unless they are given special protection during the winter.

NARCOTIC DRUGS

Per Capita Consumption in U. S. Decreases

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Per capita consumption of narcotic drugs in the United States has shown an enormous decrease under administration of the Harrison drug act, according to a statement today by Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes giving the latest official figures.

These indicate the effectiveness of federal control. Commissioner Haynes declared, and also "cuts the chance the old canes are pruned out and the tips of the new canes are not pinched. The canes are kept growing well into the early fall when they blossom and produce a crop of fruit."

Following the fall crop or at some time late in winter the canes are tipped and when they start the new growth in the spring they throw out numerous short side shoots on which the spring crop is borne. Following the spring crop prune out the old canes and repeat each year until the plants become weakened.

Wonderful Soldiers of 42nd

PARIS, May 21.—"I want to see the place where your wonderful soldiers were bred," said General Gouraud, in announcing his acceptance of the invitation of the Forty-second division to attend its annual reunion in Indianapolis in July.

In talking of his forthcoming visit, the former governor-general of Syria exhibited the enthusiasm of a schoolboy preparing for a holiday.

General Gouraud was one of the heroes of Chateau Thierry. He had charge of the French Fourth army during the July (1918) fighting, and was the commanding officer of the 42nd division, as well as a number of other American units. It was during

Feasts To Placate God of Winds

By NEA Service.
SEATTLE, May 21.—The Terrible God of the High Winds gets a royal feast from the Chinese ship employees here before the big vessels depart from Seattle harbor for the Orient.
The Wind God, according to Chinese legends, follows the course of mariners across the Pacific and does his utmost to swamp the ship—unless properly placated in the way of something worth while to eat. Hence the big food ceremonial, which is held aboard ship just before sailing time, to assure a calm voyage.
Sacrifices of barbecued pork, fruits and candies are offered by the anxious orientals. This menu is followed by the explosion of hundreds of fire-

I., May 21.—Anna Lynch, 19, of this city, and James Duffy, 20, of Pawtucket, were drowned when a canoe in which they were sailing with another young couple capsized in Omega Pond, Philippsdale, near here, last night. Josephine Y. Donnelly, 19, and Roy Hampton, 17, both of Pawtucket, escaped. The young woman was rescued by an unidentified canoeist who put out from shore and seized her as her hold on the overturned craft was slipping. Hampton swam ashore. The drowned girl was the oldest of a family of 10 children.

Each college reported an increased interest in debating as the result of formation of a debating league.

RUSSIA CAN- NOT YIELD

Russian Soviet Representative in London Gets Instructions From Moscow

Russia Cannot Yield in Principle From Recent Note Replying to Ultimatum

MOSCOW, May 21. (By the Associated Press)—Leonid Kravchenko, Russian Soviet representative in London, is unofficially understood to have been instructed to inform the British foreign office that Russia cannot yield in principle from its recent note replying to the British ultimatum. The instructions, it was said, were sent as the result of a Soviet government conference last night.
While willing to make some temporary arrangement regarding the fishing rights of the British trawlers off the Murmansk coast, such as limiting the territorial zone, and adjusting other secondary points pending general negotiation, Russia still insists that the differences between the two countries can only be adjusted by a conference, particularly on the eastern question. It is pointed out that England, despite numerous requests from the Soviet government, has never since 1920 stated exactly what the British policy and interests in Persia and other eastern lands actually are.
Only a conference could reveal this, it is contended and mutual concessions at such a conference might reconcile the differences.
If Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary again declines a conference, the understanding is that Russia feels there is nothing for Kravchenko to do but liquidate the affairs of the Russian trade delegation in London.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Ralph A. Fletcher of Westford and Miss Priscilla Keeney of this city were married Saturday evening at St. Anne's church at 7:30 o'clock by the rector, Rev. Appleton Gramis. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Kate S. Martin, 14 Park st.
St. Anne's was filled with friends of the couple, including many from distant points, while Lowell society was well represented. A maid of honor and six bridesmaids made up the bridal party, while the bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Harold H. Fletcher, as best man. The maid of honor was Miss Honore Williams of Cambridge and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Edward Abbot of Westford, Miss Katherine Nesmith of Lowell, Miss Louise Keeney, Miss Barbara Bates and Miss Corlie Williams of New York and Miss Elizabeth Edwards of Glenwood, N. J. The flower girl was Miss Fay Williams of Westford. The bride was given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. L. Hasbrouck Chabouss of Ansonia, Conn. The church and home were decorated with flowers. The bride wore a gown of white satin made with full train and enriched with old lace. She carried a colonial bouquet. The maid of honor was dressed in orchid chiffon and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses and orchids, while the bridesmaids carried bouquets of pink snapdragons and blue larkspur.
Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher will return to Lowell in June after a wedding trip.

The wedding of Mr. Willard A. Parker and Mrs. Maude M. Parley took place Saturday afternoon at the Church of the Holy Trinity, the officiating clergyman being Rev. W. J. Selzer of this city. The bride was attended by her daughter, Miss Dorothy Parley, while the best man was Mr. Roland W. Black.

END OF ALIENATION OF AFFECTIONS SUIT

The execution satisfied in full filed today with the superior court marks the end of the alienation of affections suit of Ann Windsor against Christina M. Whittier, which was begun during the present term of court now sitting at Lowell, and settled out of court.

In reference to the settlement of this case, Haven G. Hill and Raymond J. Lawelle, attorneys for Mrs. Whittier, issued the following statement: "It may have seemed strange that a settlement was made in a case so devoid of evidence to substantiate the plaintiff's claim. As a matter of fact, settlement was not made because of any alienation of affections, nor was any money paid as 'heart balm'."

"The husbands of the defendant and the plaintiff were very close friends and some evidence was introduced at trial that might have tended to show the possible existence of a financial understanding between the two men concerning some property that stood in the name of the defendant. Of this arrangement the defendant had no knowledge until the time of trial, as it was customary for Mr. Whittier to put whatever property he purchased in his wife's name."
"The husbands were dead and could not testify as to what that arrangement, if any, was, and owing to the ill health of the defendant and her sister, who was an important witness for the defendant, Mrs. Whittier preferred to make a settlement based upon the value of the property in question rather than continue this trial and undergo the strain of another trial which would have to be brought by the widow and heirs of John Windsor."

"By the terms of the settlement releases of all claims and demands by Mrs. Windsor and her children as heirs to the estate of John Windsor have been given to Mrs. Whittier, and also a withdrawal by Mrs. Windsor of all charges of misconduct on the part of Mrs. Whittier, which is now a matter of record."
"It might also be added that it was only after Mrs. Whittier had been assured by her counsel that there was no evidence in this case of alienation of affections that she was willing to settle."
"This statement is given at this time because until all the details of settlement had been completed it seemed inadvisable to make the exact terms and basis of this settlement public."

Curzon First Choice

LONDON, May 21.—(By the Associated Press.) Political gossip is almost unanimously of the opinion that Marquess Curzon, secretary of state for foreign affairs, will be offered the premiership and that either he or Stanley Baldwin, will be the successor to Andrew Bonar Law, who has resigned because of ill health.

Lord Curzon is also spoken of as a possibility for the office. The Earl of Balfour's age is generally regarded as ruling him out, although it is suggested that he might take the prime ministership in the event—which at the moment, is considered altogether unlikely—existing schemes in the conservative ranks are headed and all agree to pull together.

"Inside information" as to Mr. Bonar Law's successor is strikingly absent from the articles contributed by the political writers in this morning's newspapers. This is doubtless because of the fact that most of the politicians and party officials are absent from the city for the Whit Sunday recess.

Lord Curzon's supposed aloofness and reputed attitude of unbending superiority are alluded to by many writers who, however, do not think he should necessarily be barred from the post.

Even in quarters where Lord Curzon would not be welcome, it is recognized that his ability, his position unmarked today by even a single arrow—will be the scene of the greatest pageant fight of the year.

It is not to be a death struggle between hostile tribes, but a battle of brains and wits.

Here on the afternoon of July 4, Tom Gibbons of St. Paul will strive to wrest the world's heavyweight championship belt from Jack Dempsey, superman of the squared circle. The arena in which these modern gladiators meet is a twentieth century human festival is being built upon ground that once ran red with Indian blood.

In the present government and his record as foreign secretary mark him out for first choice; but notwithstanding his reported ambition to become prime minister it is not taken for granted that he will accept the offer if it is made.

He is well aware of the current prejudice against a peer as premier. Also he is in no wise ignorant of his personal unpopularity in many quarters. He might also insist upon endorsement by a full party meeting before assuming the difficult position.

With Lord Curzon as premier, Mr. Baldwin, it is assumed, would become leader in the house of commons and his position would then be little less important than that of the prime minister.

Mr. Baldwin's suitability for leadership is generally admitted. His rise has been rapid. Six years ago he was virtually unknown and his present reputation rests largely upon such recent events as his debt mission to the United States, his successful budget and his generalship in the house of commons since Mr. Bonar Law's absence.

Nevertheless, the financial secretary is believed by political writers to have an equal chance with Lord Curzon for the appointment.

Regret Felt in France

PARIS, May 21.—(By the Associated Press.) General regret is felt in France at the retirement of Prime Minister Bonar Law and genuine sympathy is extended to him for his upright, honest nature has been fully appreciated here, notwithstanding differences of opinion between London and Paris.

Bulletin By Physicist

LONDON, May 21.—(By the Associated Press.) The physicians of Andrew Bonar Law, retired British prime minister, this afternoon issued the following statement:

"Mr. Bonar Law had a slight operation on the throat today. Otherwise his condition is unchanged."

ANTI-SALOON HEAD
RAPS DR. BUTLER

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 21.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, who is now abroad, was made the target of an attack last night by William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, who spoke at a community mass meeting in Calvary Baptist church.

Dr. Butler, Mr. Anderson said, "has launched a new tirade against prohibition."

blition. There is a report that he has a secret reason for his venom.

"Will Dr. Butler ask the United States attorney for the southern district of New York to state publicly the amount of truth in the report that Dr. Butler's own personal plumage has been ruffled sufficiently with respect to the enforcement of the law to intensify the vitriol already in his disposition on the question?"

"Dr. Butler knows what I mean, whether he will admit it or not, and there are others who know what I mean, even if wags are shielded where dyes come in for undue publicity. And if Dr. Butler insists that he does not know and asks me to do so, I will tell the public what this report is."

The "new tirade against prohibition" referred to, Mr. Anderson said, was an interview Dr. Butler gave to the New York World shortly before he sailed for Europe.

Mr. Anderson quoted the Columbia head as saying in that interview: "The prohibition mania is the most violent and obnoxious form of intolerance that I have ever known. Its spirit and its methods are those of the Salem witch-burners of the 17th century. It has no regard for the constitution, save the 18th amendment, and no regard for law, save the Volstead act."

LOWELL PEOPLE AT

Twenty young people and four chaperones represented Lowell at the Junior organization of the North Middlesex Conference of Unitarian churches, which held its second conference and rally in the Unitarian church at Ayer Saturday. Rev. A. C. McGilbert of All Souls church, led the congregation in the morning sing, which opened the conference.

Plans were outlined at the meeting to ask the co-operation of the Senior North Middlesex organization in making the Junior association permanent. After luncheon moving pictures of the Isle of Shant, the conference center of Unitarians and Congregationalists, off Portland, were shown on the screen. "The Ghost Story," a one-act comedy by Booth Tarkington, was presented by the young people of All Souls church of Lowell at the evening entertainment. The efforts of the Lowell performers were much appreciated by the conference audience. After the play Miss Edith M. Erskine, director of the performance, was presented with a bouquet of flowers, the gift of members in the cast, in appreciation of her coaching. Dancing following the play marked the end of the conference.

PRES. WARFIELD SCORES
R. R. EXECUTIVES

NEW YORK, May 21.—S. Davis Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad Co., scored as untenable the position of railroad executives who favor preservation of the transportation act, without amendment while they at the same time ignore provision of the act for joint use of equipment and other facilities, in his annual report to stockholders, made public last night.

He pointed out that the rate-making provisions of the act were granted in recognition by congress of the relation that one railroad bears to another and were coupled in the act with definite inter-carrier responsibilities. Many executives having now approved the rate-making provisions are opposing the provisions for joint equipment and fairly uses, he said.

Discussing proposed consolidation, Mr. Warfield urged that permissive consolidations be encouraged and allowed to take place as the necessity for them is proven, but that the "enforced concentration of railroads" be delayed until opportunity is afforded to work out the desired service and economies through the establishment of the means to obtain more extended use of existing facilities.

Public Now Prefers
Vegetable Laxatives

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin affords prompt relief in a natural way

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a truly healthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" Write me where to send for a free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send for a full bottle, $1.00. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

THE public is constantly becoming more discriminating in its choice of things. Those subject to constipation try to learn what makes them constipated, and then avoid it. If constipation persists in spite of all their efforts they take the mildest, most easily tolerated laxative obtainable, and not a drastic physic that upsets them for days afterwards. As over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are sold a year, a large proportion of the people of this country must believe that this mild vegetable compound is the proper remedy for them, and so it is. No need to take salt waters and powders that dry up the blood; real drugs in candy form that produce skin eruptions, or calomel that salivates. These drugs are "heroic measures", over-effective, weakening and griping.

The best constipation remedy is the one that moves the bowels without shock to your system, and such a one is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a vegetable compound of Egyptian seeds and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and has been satisfactorily sold for 30 years. Unlike the harsher physics it does not produce a habit, and increased doses are not required; in fact, it so trains the stomach muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.

Many take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin once a week as a health safeguard. Others use it only when required, as for example, Mrs. J. W. Burroughs of Little Rock, Ark., who finds it equally valuable for herself and the children, and Mr. Euns S. Costa of Watsonville, Cal., whose family uses it regularly. Try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in constipation, biliousness, piles, headaches, sallow complexion, and to break up fevers and colds. A generous-size bottle can be had at any drug store, and it costs only about a cent a dose!

MANY BRUSH FIRES

There were three alarms for brush fires in North Billerica yesterday afternoon. The first was shortly after noon, for a blaze on the shores of Nutting's lake. OVER SALEM, 12 TO 9

Consistent hitting with the bases occupied, enabled the Second Platoon baseball nine of the Lowell fire department to take the measure of the team smoke eaters on the South coast Saturday by a score of 12 to 9. The locals despite their lack of practice and the fact that the game was the opener of the season, were led by the power of Lowell will be represented by a championship fire-department nine.

Bouquety and Symonds on the mound for the home team pitched effective baseball against their hard hitting rivals. Lowell was mostly one run behind at the end of the first six innings, but the clouts garnered off the local beavers were scattered through the nine innings. Play, Charles, was mostly good and there was a hit well for the winners. Murray, with five hits in as many appearances at the plate was the leading hitter of the victors.

CATHOLIC WOMEN MEET KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

League of Catholic Women
Holds Annual Meeting and Elects Officers

More Than 1000 Receive
Communion and Attend
Communion Breakfast

The annual meeting and election of officers of the League of Catholic Women was held yesterday afternoon in Memorial hall with a large membership present, and the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Emma E. Y. Slaughter; vice presidents, Miss Grace Palmer and Miss Mary Wood; recording secretary, Miss Helen E. Riley; corresponding secretary, Miss Gertrude O'Brien; treasurer, Miss Louise McKenna; directors for three years, Mrs. J. T. Donohue, Mrs. John Connor, Mary

Members of the Lowell council, Knights of Columbus, numbering more than 1,000, turned out yesterday morning for the annual communion at St. Peter's church and the communion breakfast in Coburn hall, where an enjoyable literary and musical program was arranged for their benefit.

The members met at 8:15 at their Dutton street home and, headed by the Lowell Cadet band, marched in a body to St. Peter's church where they attended the 8:30 mass. Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, chaplain of the council and acting pastor of St. Peter's church, celebrated the mass and gave a short sermon which was directed to the knights. In giving the communion Fr. Heffernan was assisted by the Rev. Francis L. Shea and Rev. John H. Manion. The solos during the mass were sustained by Miss Florence Hogue, James E. Donnelly and James S. King.

Following the mass, the members of the council formed in line again and marched to Coburn hall, where breakfast was awaiting them. After their appetites had been appeased, Grand Knight John E. Hart took charge and gave a brief talk on the significance of the occasion, speaking appreciatively of the splendid showing. Grand Knight Hart then introduced Rev. Fr. Heffernan, who gave an eloquent talk on the sacrament and its power in forming the lives of men. He drew several striking lessons and his address was replete indeed with interesting facts.

Preceding Fr. Heffernan's address, Mayor John J. Donohue complimented the members of the council upon their splendid response and said he was proud to be a member of the council.

The entertainment program began with several piano selections by John P. Broderick, followed by four songs by Andrew McCarthy, and featured numbers by the Messers, McGowan, Shroyer and Costello of Woburn. Songs by Thomas F. Kelly and piano selections by William P. McCarthy completed this part of the program.

Daniel S. O'Brien then gave a short talk on the entertainment. "The Working Hour," which is to be given this evening in the opera house, singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," by the assembly brought the affair to a close and it was nearly 1 o'clock when the last of the party had left the hall.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of the following: Andrew Molloy, chairman; James J. Molloy, secretary; Christopher McSorley, Arthur Higgins, John T. Burns, Frank J. Plunkett, Albert E. Trehan, John A. Bernadine, Timothy J. Trehan, John A. Bernadine, Arthur Perry and John T. Buckley.

The singing of hymns during the meeting was led by Mrs. Joseph W. Green with Miss Marietta Joseph at the piano and a group of songs by Miss Ellen Lynch, accompanied by Miss Marie O'Donnell, completed the musical program.

Rev. Joseph A. Curran, the spiritual director, gave a short address in which he praised the work of the league, and the piano and a group of songs by Miss Ellen Lynch, accompanied by Miss Marie O'Donnell, completed the musical program.

Dr. Slaughter, in her speech of acceptance of the presidency, stated that she would try to live up to the standards of the past president and would strive to serve the league to the best of her ability.

DEFENDANT WINS IN COLLISION CASE

A sealed verdict for the defendant was rendered by a jury this morning at the civil session of the superior court in the case of Thornton Englund vs. Samuel Brickman. In this case the plaintiff sought to recover damages caused to his automobile in a collision which occurred in Westford street, October 13, 1921.

JURY WAIVED SESSION OPENED HERE TODAY

The spring term of the jury waived session of the superior court opened in Lowell today, with Justice Marcus Morton on the bench. The court opened in the old court room in the Coburn street building at 10 o'clock, with an array of lawyers from all over the county present.

STREET RAILWAY MEN ARE BUSY

The Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company has several hundred men working on various jobs in and about Lowell, the latest crews being at work on the Lakewood avenue job, where the Lakewood street is being widened and on the Chelmsford street job, where the city is laying block paving and on Chelmsford street, from Shaw to Walter, where a double track is to be laid this summer. On the Lakewood avenue job, one side of the street is nearly completed, and on the Chelmsford street job, the work is just starting. Another big repair job is being done in Collingville, between St. Mary's church and the postoffice. It is expected that this job will be far enough along on next Wednesday to open both calls for traffic.

DAY QUILTS AS UMPIRE LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

Former Justice Resigns as Umpire of Mixed Claims Commission

Fines Imposed on Autoists
Today Amounted to $220
—Other Cases

WASHINGTON, May 21.—William R. Day, former associate justice of the supreme court, today presented to President Harding his resignation as umpire of the mixed claims commission.

Mr. Day explained to the president that his desire to resign was due to recognition of the enormous amount of work facing the commission with claims amounting to $1,479,064,000 to be settled, and to his belief that a younger and stronger man should be in charge of the work of adjusting claims on which the American and German commissioners are unable to agree. The resignation becomes effective immediately.

A former secretary of state and for 20 years a justice of the highest court, Mr. Day was regarded by American and German statesmen as a particularly good selection for the post from which he now is retiring. His appointment was by mutual agreement of the two governments and the necessity of selecting a new umpire is expected to delay somewhat the work of adjustment on which the claims commission already has entered.

Urges Foreign Intervention

SHANGHAI, May 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Dr. H. Martens, a physician, returning from a relief mission to the Shantung mountains, where 14 prisoners are held by bandits, reported today that the consensus of opinion among the captives was that foreign intervention was the only possible means of effecting their release.

The bandits, said Dr. Martens, utterly discredit and distrust Chinese officials and are eager to deal with foreigners.

Chevalier Musso, wealthy Italian attorney of Shanghai, one of the captives, wrote saying that the bandits still were surrounded by troops. He urged direct negotiations between foreign officials and the bandits, excluding Chinese from the parleys.

Immediate steps should be taken, he added, "otherwise we will be killed. My state of health is very bad. I await death calmly."

The American Chamber of Commerce of Shanghai has telegraphed the American legation in Peking urging direct foreign negotiations and asking measures to effect the immediate release of the hostages with the employment of foreign troops, if necessary.

Mexican Woman Released

LONDON, May 21.—A Central News despatch from Shanghai, reporting the release by the Chinese bandits of Mrs. Manuel Vera, wife of a Mexican manufacturer, says that the 14 male prisoners still held by the brigands are living under terrible conditions. Mrs. Vera was exhausted when she reached Shanghai.

ARMY DESERTER

Richard Smith, 15 years old, who was arrested about two weeks ago for the larceny of a quantity of jewelry and a sum of money from his employer in Billerica, and dismissed at the request of his employer, has been found to be a deserter from the United States army. He has been returned to the barracks at Portland, Me.

There are 9000 calls in a square foot of honeycomb.

Officers Owen Conway, Thomas H. Maroney and Motorcycle Officer Daniel Lynch put in a busy week-end, and as the result of their activities, $220 in fines were collected in the district court this morning from motorists found guilty of violating the motor vehicle laws.

Thomas O'Connor of Lawrence, charged with drunkenness and operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor, was fined $100 for the more serious charge while the drunkenness complaint was ordered placed on file. O'Connor was arrested last night by the officers after he had come out of a luncheon in an intoxicated condition and boarded his automobile in Brookings street. He started for Lawrence, but was apprehended by Motorcycle Officer Lynch and Officer Conway as he was turning into First street.

Joseph Desautels also paid a $100 fine for operating while under the influence of liquor. His arrest was effected last evening by the same officers, who noticed him driving in a careless manner down East Merrimack street. The machine was first seen coming out of Prescott street and again the trusty motorcycle was brought into play with the desired result. Desautels was overtaken near Davidson street and taken to the police station on the above-mentioned complaint.

The third violator appeared in the person of Fred A. Roberts, charged with operating an automobile without a license or registration. Officer Conway told the court that defendant approached a machine in the square after coming from a luncheon. The headlights were out and upon questioning, Roberts was found to be missing the license and registration. He was fined $10 on each offense.

John Ryan entered a plea of not guilty to a complaint charging him with drunkenness and appealed a sentence to the state farm.

John Yacous and Anna Sokolowski, first offenders for illegal keeping, were fined the usual $100 each. A like fine was imposed on Antonio Juszkewicz, while John Menikos, proprietor of a store in Broadway, was found guilty of illegal keeping and the case continued for sentence until Saturday.

Anton Santore was discharged on a complaint of interfering with an officer, civil settlement having been made for damage caused to the officer's uniform.

A charge of illegal keeping against Peter Spanos was continued until May 26.

ment authorities and the bandit leaders in Shantung, are futile, unless there is foreign representation on the Chinese delegation in the opinion of American observers as reported today to the state department.

The dispatches suggested that Royal Anderson, an American official of long residence and intimate association with the bandits and government officials in China, might be chosen to negotiate with "plenipotentiary powers."

Otherwise, a state department summary of the situation said, "the only hope of early relief of the prisoners is by direct foreign negotiations."

Intermittent Firing

TIENSIN, May 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Intermittent firing between soldiers and the Paotzu mountain bandits was reported on the return here today of Gen. Tsin's mission, which went to the bandits' stronghold in an effort to obtain the release of the foreigners held captive. The word brought back by the missionaries was not reassuring.

Gen. Tsin said two brigades of troops still encircle Paotzu from the east. The bandits had no option but to move their prisoners to the summit of the mountain which, being unsuitable for 200 feet, is considered impregnable. The only object of military maneuvers against this fortress would be to starve out the bandits.

Prisoners are being sent to the captives by armed parties, to insure that no deserting Chinese troops

New Brockton Union Ready to Negotiate Vandalism at Fort Hill Park

IRRESPONSIBLE ROWDIES PERPETRATE COWARDLY ACTS OF VANDALISM AT FORT HILL PARK

Examples of vandalism unparalleled in the city were perpetrated yesterday at Fort Hill park, the scene for thousands who desired to spend the day out of doors. This morning, ruined tulip beds, uprooted plants, broken limbs on beautiful red leaf maples and young beech trees gave sad testimony of the acts of irresponsible people, who saw in the beauties of nature only something which was to be sullied by destroying hands.

Not content with doing a vast amount of damage to trees and flower beds, the vandals broke into the deer paddock and brutally chased the third animals from one end of the enclosure to the other, driving them here and there with sticks and stones.

A park department employee, Alex. Chas. on duty at the park, but was utterly unable to cope with the persons who were roaming about destroying and mutilating as their distorted minds dictated. He could only say that the vandals were not boys, but matured young men, who ran away whenever he approached.

Park Superintendent John W. Keenan was rightfully indignant today and declared every effort will be made to find out who the guilty persons are and will cause their immediate arrest.

"It seems almost unbelievable that the city must protect its public parks by gendarmes of police," said the superintendent, "but the park department will do this if it is obliged to and will prosecute to the limit any persons found in the act of destroying property."

BRITAIN TO REMAIN WITHOUT PREMIER THROUGH WHITMONDAY

MARQUIS CURZON

ANDREW BONAR LAW

LONDON, May 21. (By the Associated Press)—Great Britain bids fair to remain without a premier through Whitmonday at least.

King George had up to this afternoon, asked no one to accept the premiership, in succession to Andrew Bonar Law, who resigned yesterday, so far as known to the public. The king, it is said, has no present intention of curtailing his visit to Aldershot, which is expected to last most of the week.

Meanwhile the two most promising prospects for head of the government, Earl Curzon and Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, were in the country on a holiday and planning to remain away until Wednesday.

Virtually all the members of the cabinet are away, as well as the political leaders of parliament for the Whitmon holiday.

It was reported today there was no improvement in Bonar Law's health.

6000 ON STRIKE IN BROCKTON

Streets Lined With Shoe Shop Strikers This Morning—No Disorder

Factories Opened Today With Few Workers Reporting

BROCKTON, May 21.—Brockton has close to 6000 shoe workers on strike today. The streets are lined with strikers. There are no signs of disorder.

Brockton factories are running to some extent. All the factories were opened for business at 7 o'clock, with but few employees reporting for duty. No attempt is being made to fill the strikers' places, and neither the workers nor the manufacturers have made any move toward settlement.

Starting at 9 o'clock this morning and continuing all through the day, up until tonight, the unions have meetings scheduled.

New Union Formed
Three representatives of each striking Brockton union met this morning and formed the Brockton district shoe workers organization, Joseph Laoutens, former business agent of the lasters, and Dennis E. McCarthy, former business agent of the dressers and packers, were elected as president and secretary, respectively.

In a statement issued, the organization advised the manufacturers that it is ready to negotiate with any manufacturer or group of manufacturers wishing to effect a settlement. This committee will serve to conduct all negotiations between the workers and the employers. It will function in practically the same manner as the joint shoe council of the B. & S.W.U.

The committee met this afternoon for a conference with a committee representing the cutters of the L. Q. White Shoe Co., of Bridgewater. It is understood that 200 cutters of the L. Q. White Co., are ready to go on strike in sympathy with the Brockton strikers.

The Brockton district shoe workers' organization is composed of three members each from the dressers and packers, trees, lasters, edgemakers and cutters unions.

"We stand by our entire contract and we will maintain our contractual relations with the best and shoe workers' union, the only shoe workers' organization affiliated with the American Federation of Labor," was the outstanding section of a full page advertisement given to Brockton newspapers today by the Brockton shoe manufacturers' association.

The union stamp contract and particularly clauses two and four of the contract, relating to the employer employing only members of the best and shoe workers' union, were quoted in the advertisement.

At each meeting the question of forming one big union to embrace Continued to Last Page

NEW NOTE TO FOREIGN OFFICE

Diplomatic Corps to Send Protest to the Chinese Government

U. S. State Department Feels Only Hope for Release is by Foreign Negotiation

PEKING, May 21.—(By the Associated Press) Reports that troops were firing on the Shantung bandits, were received today by the diplomatic corps, which immediately drafted a new note to the foreign office asking the Chinese government how it reconciled its promises to procure the release of the foreign captives and the events transpiring since that assurance.

As parliament has not acted on ratification of the presidential appointment of Mr. Wellington Koo as foreign minister, the foreign office still is officially without a head. The diplomatic corps heard the recital of Marshal O. Denko, a Frenchman of Shanghai, whom the bandits released so that he could present their ultimatum to the government.

WANT MORE POLICEMEN

Council to Decide if City Will Allow Police Department More Money

Whether or not the city will vote this year to provide additional money to the police department for the appointment of more regular patrolmen will be decided at a meeting of the city council tomorrow night, when Councilor Sadtler's $10,000 transfer order, accompanied by the mayor's vote of it, will come up for action.

The matter is expected to bring out considerable debate, for to pass the order now over the majority vote will require a two-thirds affirmative vote and it is believed that several of the councilors, at least, will incline to support the mayor in his action.

At the last meeting of the council, Councilor Sadtler stated he would have additional facts and figures relative to open routes and "bumping" now made necessary on some platforms because of a shortage of patrolmen and will attempt to show that certain sections of the city are being improperly guarded at night.

MAN ON DANGEROUS LIST AT HOSPITAL AS RESULT OF CUTTING AFFRAY IN ANDREWS STREET

Woman Who Figured in Bloody Mixup Tells Police She Was Wounded While Attempting to Prevent Man From Committing Suicide—Man Blames Woman—Twelve-Year-Old Boy Also Injured

That John W. Grady, 61 years old, who is confined to St. John's hospital with severe lacerations about the head and neck, sustained the lacerations in a struggle with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Clara Grady at her home in Andrews street, early yesterday morning when the latter interfered with his plan to commit suicide, was the statement made to Inspector John J. Walsh and Officer Thomas Walsh by the 12-year-old sister-in-law, Mrs. Clara Grady, who is confined to St. John's hospital this morning.

This revelation by the woman in the case, a deaf mute, clarifies considerably the mystery which surrounded the near-tragedy, her statement this morning, in which the police place a "knight deal" of credence, being a direct contradiction of the theory advanced by the aged man soon after the sanguinary conflict.

This morning it was reported at the hospital, that the mother and son will recover, but the name of the elderly man has been placed on the dangerous list as it is thought has advanced years may have a fatal reactionary effect on his weakened condition.

To Inspector Walsh and Officer Walsh, Mrs. Grady told her version of the affair. She said that John

PROPOSITION TO SELL LOWELL JAIL

TO BOSTON & MAINE FOR RAILROAD STATION IS LAID BEFORE COUNTY COMMISSION

The sale of the Lowell jail, land and buildings, located in Thordike and Hall streets to the Boston & Maine railroad for the establishment of a railroad station, was advocated before the county commissioners this morning by a special committee of the city council.

Incidentally the members of the committee made reference to the proposition to sell the city of the Washington tavern in Central street for the centralization of the district court, police station, fire department and board of health, and requested the commissioners to take these two propositions under advisement.

The city council committee appearing before the county commissioners consisted of Daniel Cosgrove, chairman; Fred A. Sadtler and John W. Jolly. The conference was held at the monthly meeting of the county commissioners, which was held in the court house building in Corbin street with Chairman Alfred L. Cutting in the chair.

The other commissioners, Erwin B. Bailey and Walter C. Wardwell, were also present.

Mr. Cosgrove opened the conference by stating the three councilors present had been delegated by the city council to confer with the commissioners on two very important matters, namely, the selling of the jail and the Boston & Maine railroad and the purchase by the city of the old Washington tavern.

He stated that the districts in which the two buildings are located include six of the nine wards of the city with

MANY DELEGATES AT NOTRE DAME ALUMNAE CONVENTION HELD AT LOCAL ACADEMY YESTERDAY

Almost 200 delegates from Worcester, Chicopee, Boston, Cambridge, Waterbury, Milford, Peabody, Somerville, Lowell and Lynn attended the fifth annual convention of the Massachusetts Alumnae Federation in the Notre Dame academy yesterday. Incidentally, yesterday's gathering marked the first time that the organization has convened at the Lowell academy.

Under the direction of Miss Carmen Reddick, the delegates were transported from the depot to the meeting place in automobiles, twenty machines being employed in this service. Arriving at the academy in Adams street, the visitors were greeted by their local associates. The library and dining hall were attractively decorated with pink and white May blossoms, while the assembly hall and chapel were neatly adorned with cut flowers and palms.

The morning session opened at 11:30 o'clock, prayer being offered by the sister superior of the Lowell academy, followed by an address of welcome by Miss Annie Devine, president of the local alumnae, who expressed her pleasure at being honored to welcome the delegates in behalf of the association in Lowell. "During the past two years," she said, "we have been associated in many and various ways that have united us with a bond that can never be broken."

"Today we meet again—to carry on our good work, and to strengthen the foundation of this structure called Notre Dame."

"Let us renew the ties of friendship and pledge allegiance again to the ideals instilled into our hearts by the Sisters of Notre Dame."

"And today our dear sisters and the members of the alumnae extend a gracious greeting to you and pray that this hour be a happy one, and, to that end, I bid you welcome."

Election of Officers

Following the address of welcome, the first business of the session was begun, the election of officers for the next two years claiming the attention of the delegates. The following officers were chosen:

President, Miss Anna Johnson, Worcester; first vice president, Miss Anna J. Curry, Roxbury; second vice president, Miss Rose V. McLaughlin, Milford; recording secretary, Miss Mary Hines, South Boston; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Thomas L. Webb, Fenway; treasurer, Miss Anna Devine, Lowell.

National officers: Moderator, Sister Mary Lavin, Holyrood academy; Assistant, Miss Mary A. Barr, Massachusetts; first vice president, Miss James A. Allen, Ohio; second vice president, Miss Elizabeth Sullivan, Washington; recording secretary, Mrs. John J. Buckley, Massachusetts; corresponding secretary, Miss Grace W. Kelly, Massachusetts; treasurer, Mrs. Brendan Halvey, Philadelphia.

National and state committees: Chairman (national), Mrs. Martha G. Fumley, Ohio; chairman (state), Miss Ellen Mearns, Fenway.

The morning session was brought to a close with a banquet in the dining hall.

New York Will Be Branded as Slacker if Gov. Smith Signs Wet Bill, Says Wheeler

NEW YORK, May 21.—New York state will be branded as a slacker, and bootleggers from other states will adopt it as a center from which to operate, if Governor Smith signs the repeal of the Miller-Tamm law, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America, said today in an address before the Baptist ministers' meeting.

"The plight of the people of New York, should the repeal measure be signed, would be like that of the family of a man who would send a glitzy, edged invitation to a phlegm and ravish his home," he declared.

LONDON WILL BID FOR AD CLUB CONVENTION

Assistant Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce Edward W. Gallagher has just received a number of copies of the London Daily Sketch, a pictorial daily that has a large circulation in England. The issue is of May 18 and contains on the front page a large picture of the Prince of Wales and his message to the paper in favor of the holding of the convention of Associated Advertising Clubs in London in 1924.

This year's convention will be held in London next month and the London advertisers who attend this are going to drive hard to get the convention in their home city in 1924. The Prince of Wales letter follows:

"The Prince of Wales greatly appreciates your letter regarding the objects and hopes of the 1924 convention of Associated Advertising Clubs of the World and realizes the advantages that would ensue from the holding of the convention at the British Empire Exhibition."

A population of over 50,000. He said such improvements would add millions of dollars to the city's valuation. The purchase of the old Washington Tavern by the city is now under consideration, continued Mr. Cosgrove, "and we consider before that the sale of the Central fire station, located in Middle and Palmer streets, and the Market St. building, which houses the police station and district court, would bring in revenues that would almost cover the cost of the purchase of the tavern and the erection of a modern building in which would be located the Central fire station, the police station and district court and the board of health office. In addition we would like to have Gorham street widened from Powers' corner to Davis square, as that would make the thoroughfare, which is one of the main arteries in and out of Boston, a most important one."

Mr. Cosgrove said he believed the widening of Gorham street would bring more traffic into Lowell and this would be very beneficial to the merchants of that locality and the city at large. Referring to the Lowell jail proposition, the speaker said that he feels that the Boston & Maine railroad should purchase the site and erect thereon one of the finest railroad stations in the world. Such an enterprise, he said, would relieve traffic in Middlesex street and would show that Lowell is a live city. He intimated to the commissioners that the unsightly and dangerous walls surrounding the jail should be taken down at once. He felt that the tearing down of the walls would eliminate accidents and foul play, which are apt to happen at that spot at any time, as the walls make the street dark and afford a hiding place for criminals. "All we are here for," continued Mr. Cosgrove, "is to have you gentlemen interested in the proposition and request that you take the matters under advisement, and if you deem it advisable you may confer with the railroad officials in the matter."

Commissioner Barlow said he did not believe the buildings would be of any use as a railroad station. He explained that the cells in the buildings were built into the structure and it would be a difficult job to remove them without tearing down the entire building. Commissioner Barlow asked if the site was adequate for the tracks and Mr. Cosgrove replied that in his opinion the tracks could be curved onto the land or spur tracks laid out.

Commissioner Barlow said he was in accord with the proposition as outlined by Commissioner Cosgrove and had nothing further to add. Commissioner Barlow said he is interested in anything in line of improvements for the city and he believed the site of the jail would be an ideal spot for a railroad station. Referring to the old Washington Tavern, Commissioner Wardwell said he thought the city may want to use that site for business purposes and added that in "Cincinnati" there was some agitation for locating the Central fire station in Innis square for the city in order that the commerce there may expand.

Mr. Cosgrove said that meant improvements. He further stated that in his opinion the ambulance station should be located in the police station building and the service handled by the police. This is not a political party," he said, "for I have had enough of that, but I do that the two propositions would prove of great benefit to the entire city, Lowell is a deserving town for it has a good citizenship, which is composed of industrious and law-abiding citizens."

The members of the council were extended a vote of thanks by the county commissioners, who assured them that their proposition would be given the consideration.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

THE TWINS CAPTURED

QUICK AS TWO WINKS THEY SCRAMBLED UP A TREE

Rat a tat tat.
Rat a tat tat.
Rat a tat, rat a tat,
Rat a tat tat!

Nancy and Nick were sitting beside the road in Bing-Bang Land wondering what to do next when they heard the sound of a drum.

They looked up quickly and saw a company of soldiers coming.

"Quick! Let's hide!" said Nick. "They are tin soldiers and if they see us they may put us both in prison because you helped me to escape."

So, quick as two winks they scrambled up a tree right beside the road. And just in time—for with a few more rat a tat tats, the soldiers reached the very spot where the twins had been sitting.

The soldiers never suspected that right over their heads two pairs of eyes were watching everything they did.

"Halt!" commanded Captain Bow Legs.

Instantly the soldiers stood like statues. The drummer stopped rat a tatting, and everything was as quiet as a Quaker meeting.

"Arms rest! Fall out!" was the next command.

The twins thought he was talking to them!

"My goodness!" whispered Nancy. "How did he know we were here? He isn't even looking at us."

"We won't fall out—so there!" she called down. "We'll climb down if you make us, but we won't fall!"

Captain Bow Legs and Lieutenant Shiny Boots looked up in surprise, and instantly saluted when they saw who it was. "We were looking for you," the captain said.

"That's why we hid," answered Nick. "We have orders to take you to General Hobblesby," said the Captain. "Come on down."

There was nothing else to do. Daven scrambled the twins and got in line. Then the drum started to rat a tat again.

Away they all marched. Nancy and Nick wondered what was going to happen.

PITCHER GOES SIX YEARS BEFORE FIRST SHUTOUT

Pitcher Rolly Naylor of the Philadelphia Athletics had the big thrill of his major league career at Chicago Saturday, May 12.

Working against the Chicago White Sox, Naylor scored a 5 to 0 victory over Gleason's tribe. That shutout was the first that Naylor has ever pitched in the big show, although he came to Connie Mack in 1917.

In a career spread over a half dozen years Naylor has pitched many a fine ball game for Mack, but in all that time he has never succeeded in holding the opposition ransom until his recent exhibition against the White Sox.

Scores of times he has been on the verge of scoring a shutout only to have the breaks of the game rob him of the glory at the last minute.

Naylor did not play during the season of 1917, doing his bit in the World war that year.

No collegian could have been more jubilant than was Naylor when the last Sox player was retired and the shutout was a reality. He tossed his hat high and let out a louder shout than any collegian here could have possibly done.

Make THE Backyard Pay

BY W. R. BEATTIE,
Extension Horticulturist, United States
Department of Agriculture

Raspberries are the second of our early fruits. There are three types of raspberries, red, black and purple. The red type differs from the others in its habit of growth and its method of forming new plants from the roots.

The black and purple types form new plants by the tips of the canes bending down and taking root in the soil.

Good varieties of the red type are Cuthbert, Latham, Marburn and Ranier. Varieties of the black type are Gregg, Palmer and Kansas. Five good varieties of the purple type are Cardinal, Columbian, Haymaker, Royal and Stratford.

Less than 15 or 20 plants of each will not give enough berries for the ordinary family. The plants should be set at least 2 by 3 feet and tied to stakes.

Raspberries want rich deep soil and plenty of manure and fertilizer every year. The fruit is borne on wood of last year's growth so that after the spring fruiting period the old canes should all be pruned out.

Pinching the heart out of the growing canes when about 3 feet in height will cause branches to form. The exception is the Ranier or St. Regis which frequently bears a spring and fall crop. Other of the red varieties have this characteristic to a limited extent.

The methods of securing two crops from the Ranier or St. Regis are as follows: After the spring crop is gathered the old canes are pruned out and the plants cultivated and fertilized. The tips of the new canes are not pinched out but are kept growing well into the early fall when they blossom and produce a crop of fruit.

Following the fall crop or at some time late in winter the canes are pruned and when they start the new growth in the spring they throw out numerous short side shoots on which the spring crop is borne. Following the spring crop prune out the old canes and repeat each year until the plants become weakened.

In the meantime make a new planting.

As many as 6 or 8 quarts of fall crop raspberries may be gathered from a row 50 or 70 feet long each week over a period of three or four weeks. Around Hammond, N. J., hundreds of crates of fall crop raspberries are produced each year.

It should be borne in mind, however, that raspberries do not thrive everywhere. Especially is this true of the South Atlantic and Gulf Coast states. The climate of parts of the northwest is also too severe for raspberries unless they are given special protection during the winter.

NARCOTIC DRUGS

Per Capita Consumption in U. S. Decreases

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Per capita consumption of narcotic drugs in the United States has shown an enormous decrease under administration of the Harrison drug act, according to a statement today by Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes giving the latest official figures.

These indicate the effectiveness of federal control, Commissioner Haynes declared, and also "refute the charge so often made that drug addiction and the use of narcotic drugs are on the increase in the United States."

GEN. GOURAUD COMING

Wants to See Place Where Wonderful Soldiers of 42nd Division Were Bred

PARIS, May 21.—"I want to see the place where your wonderful soldiers were bred," said General Gouraud, in announcing his acceptance of the invitation of the Forty-Second division to attend its annual reunion in Indianapolis in July.

In talking of his forthcoming visit, the former governor-general of Syria exhibited the enthusiasm of a school-boy preparing for a holiday.

General Gouraud was one of the heroes of Chateau Thierry. He had charge of the French Fourth army during the July (1918) fighting, and was the commanding officer of the 42nd division, as well as a number of other American units. It was during

United States Presents War
Claims for Settlement—

Lusitania Damages Set at $22,305,000—Government
Seeks $366,113,000

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(By The Associated Press)—With a war bill aggregating $1,479,064,313 already presented against Germany by the United States on behalf of itself and citizens, to the mixed claims commission, a considerable number of other claims await settlement through diplomatic channels.

The United States government itself is the largest claimant asking for $22,305,000, while the smallest of the claims is for $1.

The 12,416 claims filed with the commission, according to the reports of Robert C. Morris, American agent, made public today comprise the vast bulk pending against Germany but do not include many filed after the time limit, April 10 last, as fixed by the commission.

With the Lusitania claims for $22,305,000 heading the commission's dock, hearings already have been begun by the mixed claims commission, on which Edwin B. Parker is the American commissioner and Dr. Wilhelm Kieselbach, the German commissioner with former Justice Day of the supreme court as umpire, to decide any disputes between the two commissioners.

Decisions of the commission are announced in the commission's report. The reasons for findings need not be given. The umpire will function decisively only upon disagreement as to liability or amount of damages between American and German commissioners.

Proceedings of the commission are based primarily upon the treaty of Versailles, including the so-called Knox indemnity clauses, and not the treaty of Versailles.

The American claims are to be disposed of without regard to the allied reparations claims, the report of Mr. Morris disclosed.

The door is not shut against the United States or its citizens to increase the amount of the claims presented. Mr. Morris having stipulated, on behalf of the American government and Germany having accepted, a proviso, permitting the claims to be changed in amount later if circumstances and the facts disclosed should require. The report of Mr. Morris also disclosed the machinery and rules set up for disposal of the American claims by the commission.

Details of the commission's organization, with addresses by the American and German representatives indicating a friendly spirit and desire for accord also were made public.

The largest claim listed in the report is the American government's of $255,843,815 for costs of the army of occupation in Germany, now under negotiation with the allies in Paris by assistant Secretary Wadsworth of the treasury. It is understood, however, this claim will not be pressed in the event the Paris negotiations result in an agreement.

Other agreement claims are for $67,265,825 for general damages growing out of German submarine warfare, $37,952,000 by the veterans bureau of war risks; premiums, $5,889,000 by the railroad administration and $40,075 for war risk premiums of the shipping board.

The claim is presented by Emory Roberts for loss of property while a German prisoner of war.

Farrell of North Warrington, former army chaplain and winner of the D.S.C. At the conclusion of the sermon, benediction was held, followed by the usual veneration of the relic of the famous saint. The novena will be continued this evening at 7:30 o'clock with Rev. John J. Linnahan of North Chelmsford as preacher.

A May procession, in honor of the Blessed Virgin, will be held in the church next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

May devotions will be held in St. Margaret's church on Wednesday and Friday evenings of this week at 7:30 o'clock.

A large class of children will receive their first communion on May 30 at the 7:30 o'clock mass.

It was announced at all the masses yesterday that the annual lawn party will be held in the Casino on June 28.

The annual communion for the members of Courts St. Anthony and St. Paul, C.O.P., took place yesterday morning at the 8 o'clock mass in St. John Baptist church and was very largely attended. The members of both organizations gathered at the C.M.A.C. hall in Pawtucket street at 6:30 o'clock and headed by their respective officers, marched in a body to the church, where they received reserved powers in the center aisle. The mass was celebrated by the pastor, Very Rev. J. E. Turcotte, O.M.I., who also delivered the sermon, speaking on the significance of the occasion. It had been planned to hold a communion breakfast at the C.M.A.C. hall at the close of the mass, but the plans were changed at the eleventh hour. Close to 500 men approached the altar rail and they presented an impressive spectacle.

MORE TROUBLE IN THE GREEK COMMUNITY

Another serious rupture in the political and religious affairs of the Lowell Greek community occurred yesterday when Apostolos Johnson, former community president and alleged to have been removed from office at a meeting held last January, attempted to enter the Greek Orthodox church while services were being held and to take the seat reserved for the president, although occupied by Constantine Vurgunopoulos, who has been at the head of the community since the questioned election on January 5.

Johnson was ejected from the church while cries of "kill him," "out with him" filled the air. The former president appealed to police headquarters for protection and again attempted to take the president's seat within the church, but again he was thrown out and on advice of the police Johnson went to his home.

The trouble that has existed within the community since last winter has been thoroughly aired in court and only a week or so ago a decree was issued reinstating Johnson as president and stating that the meeting at which he was deposed had been illegally held. Johnson had a copy of this decree with him as a credential when he attempted to enter the church yesterday morning, but it did not help him in his effort.

Johnson's enemies claim the decree does not become operative until June 5 and that last Saturday an appeal to the decree was taken to the supreme court by Attorney Edward J. Tierney. Until the matter is finally settled Johnson has no rights, his opponents contend.

James Klekilla, secretary of the community, states that the annual election of officers comes on May 31 and at that time another president will be formally and properly elected and aware that the opposition to Johnson is so pronounced as to make his election most improbable.

Johnson yesterday told the police officers that only two or three persons in the community were opposed to him, but a general hue and cry was raised against him when he attempted to enter the church while mass was in progress. It was because of this apparent wide-spread antagonism that the police advised the former president to seek the seclusion of his home until after the excitement had died down.

Feasts To Placate God of Winds

By NEA Service.
SEATTLE, May 21.—The Terrible God of the High Winds gets a royal feast from the Chinese ship employees just before big vessels depart from Seattle harbor for the Orient.
The Wind God, according to Chinese legends, follows the course of mariners across the Pacific and does his utmost to swamp the ship—unless properly placated in the way of something worth while to eat. Hence the big food ceremonial, which is held aboard ship just before sailing time, to assure a calm voyage.
Sacrifices of barbecued pork, fruits and candles are offered by the anxious orientals. This menu is followed by the explosion of hundreds of firecrackers to distract the attention of the Wind God from his chief job of blowing.

And just to make precaution doubly sure, huge white papers with an intricate design of the ship's passage are placed where the Wind God can see them. In following the lines, he loses all track of the real course of the vessel—so the Chinese say—and a good time is had by all.
The custom has been practiced for thousands of years on the junk of the China sea.

RUSSIA CAN- NOT YIELD

Russian Soviet Representative in London Gets Instructions From Moscow

Russia Cannot Yield in Principle From Recent Note Replying to Ultimatum

MOSCOW, May 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Leonid Krassin, Russian Soviet representative in London, is unofficially understood to have been instructed to inform the British foreign office that Russia cannot yield in principle from its recent note replying to the British ultimatum. The instructions, it was said, were sent as the result of a Soviet government conference last night.
While willing to make some temporary arrangement regarding the fishing rights of the British travelers off the Murmansk coast, such as limiting the territorial zone, and adjusting other secondary points pending general negotiation, Russia still insists that the differences between the two countries can only be adjusted by a conference, particularly on the eastern question. It is pointed out that England, despite numerous requests from the Soviet government, has never since 1920 stated exactly what the British policy and interests in Persia and other eastern lands actually are.
Only a conference could reveal this, it is contended and mutual concessions at such a conference might reconcile the differences.
If Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary again declines a conference, the understanding is that Russia feels there is nothing for Krassin to do but liquidate the affairs of the Russian trade delegation in London.

END OF ALIENATION OF AFFECTIONS SUIT

The execution satisfied in full filed today with the superior court marks the end of the alienation of affections suit of Ann Windsor against Christina M. Whittier, which was begun during the present term of court now sitting at Lowell, and settled out of court.

In reference to the settlement of this case, Haven G. Hill and Raymond J. Lavella, attorneys for Mrs. Whittier, issued the following statement:
"It may have seemed strange that a settlement was made in a case so devoid of evidence to substantiate the plaintiff's claim. As a matter of fact, settlement was not made because of any alienation of affections, nor was any money paid as 'heart balm.'

"The husbands of the defendant and the plaintiff were very close friends and some evidence was introduced at trial that might have tended to show the possible existence of a financial understanding between the two men concerning some property that stood in the name of the defendant. Of this arrangement the defendant had no knowledge until the time of trial, as it was customary for Mr. Whittier to put whatever property he purchased in his wife's name.

"As the husbands were dead and could not testify as to what that arrangement, if any, was, and owing to the ill health of the defendant and her sister, who was an important witness for the defendant, Mrs. Whittier preferred to make a settlement based upon the value of the property in question rather than continue this trial and undergo the strain of another trial which would have to be brought by the widow and heirs of John Windsor.

"By the terms of the settlement, releases of all claims and demands by Mrs. Windsor and her children as heirs to the estate of John Windsor have been given to Mrs. Whittier, and also a withdrawal by Mrs. Windsor of all charges of misconduct on the part of Mrs. Whittier, which is now a matter of record.

"It might also be added that it was only after Mrs. Whittier had been assured by her counsel that there was no evidence in this case of alienation of affections that she was willing to settle.
"This statement is given at this time because until all the details of settlement had been completed, it seemed inadvisable to make the exact terms and basis of this settlement public."

EXPERT EXTRACTION

We never advise extraction unless it is absolutely necessary, but when we do extract, we do it without one bit of pain. We use two methods to obtain this result. One is by Sleep Vapor (nitrous oxide and oxygen) the surest and best method in the world; the other is by means of our own preparation, applied to the gums. Either way means no pain for you. We do not charge an exorbitant figure for this work, either. No charge for painless extraction when other work is done. All work guaranteed.

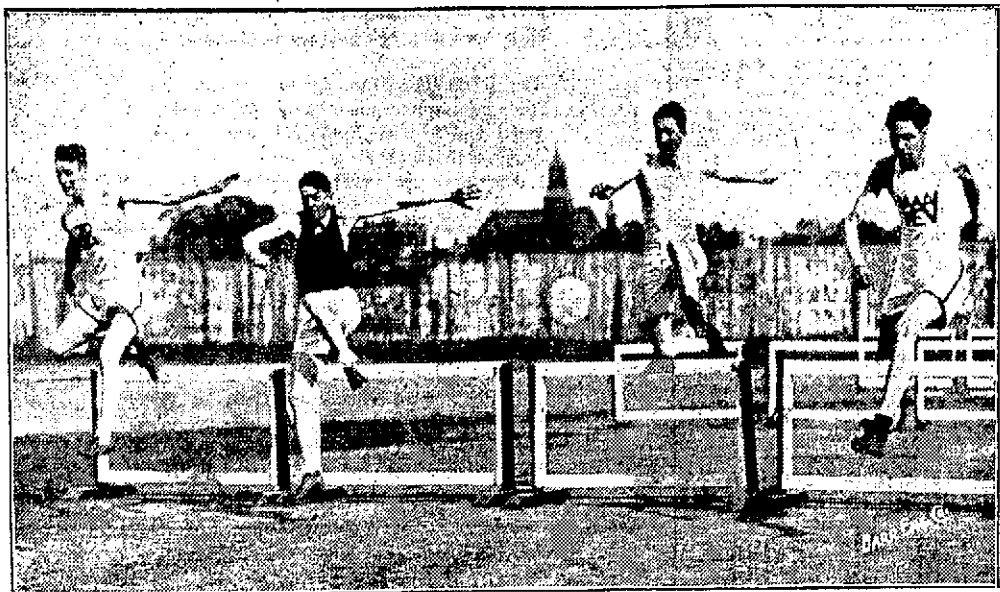

Don't feel that you are putting me to any trouble because you come in for advice, or come to look the office over. My methods put me in a class entirely by myself. Come and look over my establishment and you will be compelled to admit this. And now having talked to you thus, I invite you to call for a Free Examination. It will repay you, for a few minutes' time, to learn the truth about the condition of your teeth.

Former Captain of Lowell High School Track Team Winner at Lawrence Meet, Saturday

In an open meet for amateur track athletes at O'Sullivan park, Lawrence, last Saturday afternoon, Francis Saunders of Lowell, former captain of the Lowell high school track team, running unattached, captured second place in the 50 yard hurdles among a field of fast performers. Saunders ran a fast race and was only nosed out at the tape by a few inches. He finished first in his trial heat and second in the semi-final.

Saturday's meet was conducted under the auspices of St. Anne's club of Lawrence and participants were entered from practically every city and town in Merrimack valley. Saunders was the only Lowell boy represented.

DRIVE TO RAISE FUNDS FOR BOY SCOUT WORK

A movement to raise $7200 for the continuance of Boy Scout work in Lowell gathered impetus today at a meeting of newspaper representatives and publicity men at Cole's Inn. It is felt that this amount will be necessary if the organization now well developed under the direction of Executive Edwin Mellen is to continue to function properly and show healthy growth.

In outlining the need of $7200, Dr. John H. Lambert said the scout of fields are not seeking charity, but look upon such gifts as investments in good citizenship. Public-spirited men in back of the organization are serving without compensation. Every rare is excluded in the distribution of funds and expenditure of money, he said.

Frank Proctor, speaker of the need of a central organization and directing head and pointed to the drop in membership in scout troops from 500 to 70 during the two years when the council ceased to function. That there is a revival of interest is shown in the increase in membership to more than 300 during the past six months, or since Mr. Mellen came to the city as scout executive.

Benjamin S. Pouzner was another speaker in favor of a drive to secure the amount of money needed.

EXETER DEFEATS LOWELL HIGH

The Lowell high school golf team journeyed down to Exeter, N. H., to play the Phillips-Exeter Academy team Saturday, and met with a defeat by the score of 5 to 2, which was considered rather an easy score as the Exeter team has played several matches while it was Lowell's first appearance this year.

Five singles and two four-somes made up the match. Marshall Forrest and Charles Grasse, Jr., won two of the singles and the rest were won by Exeter. The Lowell team consisted of the following: Marshall Forrest, Charles Grasse, Jr., Allan Howard, Harry Buzzell and Randolph Cady.

TO PLAY LAWRENCE K. OF C. TEAM

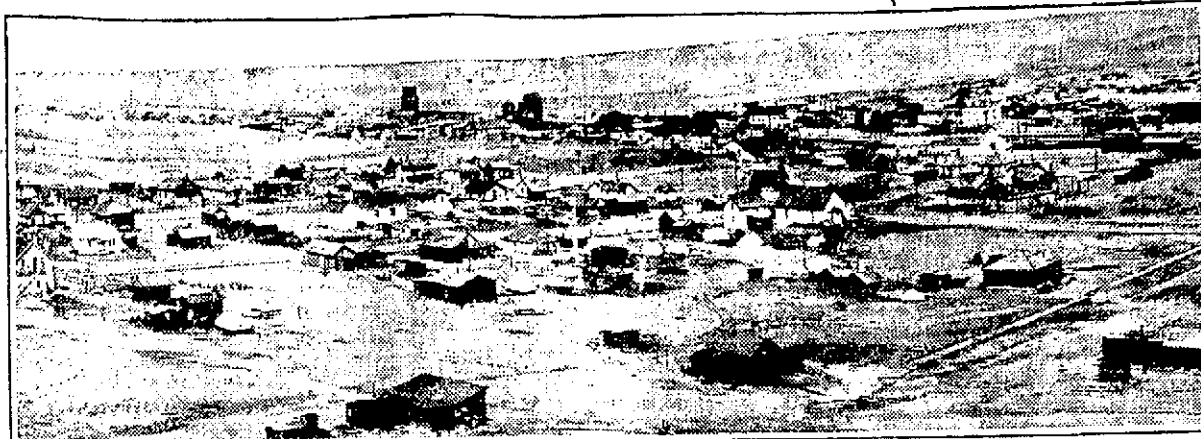

The local Y.M.C.U. team of the Twilight league will journey down to Lawrence tomorrow, to meet the Lawrence-Knight of Columbus team that not so long ago took the scalps off the Highland Twilight team. The game will start at 6 o'clock and, it is believed, will be played in O'Sullivan park.

The Y.M.C.U. will use the following lineup: Linton C. Morals or Cawley P. McGowan 1b, O'Day or Cawley 2b, Gath as 3b, McHale 1b, Lynch cf and Willard rf.

IN AND OUT CLUB

The In and Out club of the chamber of commerce held a regular meeting this noon in the chamber's quarters in the Fairburn building, with President Edward Fisher in the chair. Following a luncheon, considerable routine business was transacted and a new member, F. P. Loughlin of the New York Life Insurance Co. was proposed.

Indian Battle Ground Scene of Shelby's Fourth of July Party

SHELBY, SCENE OF THE DEMPSEY-GIBBONS TITULAR HEAVYWEIGHT CLASSIC, JULY 4, IS ONLY A LITTLE MONTANA OIL TOWN. BUT IT IS BOOMING. HALF OF ITS POPULATION LIVES IN TENTS AS THIS PICTURE SHOWS. DRILLING OPERATIONS ARE GOING ON IN ALL DIRECTIONS. MOST OF THE FOLKS WHO COME TO THE FIGHT WILL HAVE TO DO THEIR SLUMBERING IN SLEEPING CARS. MILES OF SPECIAL TRACKS ARE BEING CONSTRUCTED.

By N. E. A. Service
SHELBY, Mont., May 21.—Another war cry will reverberate through Toole county's jagged bluffs, last stronghold of the once powerful, rampaging Sioux.

The splotch of rugged prairie, where the tattered remnants of one of the mightiest tribes in the old west made their final stand, will become a battle ground again.

But the combatants won't be grotesquely painted savages, Tomahawks, war clubs and stolen carriages will be supplanted by padded mitts.

This historical Indian battlefield—no living statesman except the Earl of Balfour could elicit such a chorus of affectionate regard on such an occasion.

The Morning Post, champion of hereditary institutions, says it is important at the present crisis that the new premier be a commoner. None of the peers mentioned as a possible prime minister, meets the needs of the situation, the Post asserts, adding that the minister who has the rank and file of the conservative party is Stanley Baldwin. This newspaper believes the chancellor of the exchequer would make a worthy successor to Mr. Bonar Law.

Curzon First Choice

LONDON, May 21.—(By the Associated Press) Political gossips are almost unanimously of the opinion that Marquis Curzon, secretary of state for foreign affairs, will be offered the premiership and that either he or Stanley Baldwin, will be the successor to Andrew Bonar Law, who has resigned because of ill health.

Lord Derby is also spoken of as a possibility for the office. The Earl of Balfour's age is generally regarded as ruling him out, although it is suggested that he might take the prime ministership in the event—which at the moment, is considered altogether unlikely—existing schisms in the conservative ranks are healed and all agree in pulling together.

"Inside information" as to Mr. Bonar Law's successor is strikingly absent from the articles contributed by the political writers in this morning's newspaper. This is doubtless because of the fact that most of the politicians and party officials are absent from the city for the Whit Sunday recess.

Lord Curzon's supposed all-roundness and reputed attitude of unbending superiority are alluded to by many writers who, however, do not think he should necessarily be barred from the post.

Even in quarters where Lord Curzon would not be welcome, it is recognized that his ability, his position unmarked today by even a single arrowhead—will be the scene of the greatest paleface fight of the year.

It is not to be a death struggle between hostile tribes, but a battle of brawn and wits.

Here on the afternoon of July 4, Tom Gibbons of St. Paul will strive to wrest the world's heavyweight championship belt from Jack Dempsey, superman of the squared circle.

The arena in which these modern gladiators meet is a level plain of Indian land.

Upon it stood the gaudily decorated tepees of the gallant Sioux in the winter of 1885-86, before the Blackfeet and Arapahos swept down upon them.

Blackfeet scouts came down from the mountains and counted the Sioux numbers and horses. Then they reported back to their chiefs. A war council followed.

The battle cry of the oncoming Blackfeet echoed through the hills, a "Hail" and was on. The Sioux ranks, broken and leaderless, fled in disorder into Dakota.

That battle, fought just a mile west of here, still is fresh in the memories of many of Shelby's earlier residents.

Shelby first was a "tank town," source of supplies for cattle and sheep men, figuring up place for cowboys and frontiersmen. Then it became a center of agricultural interests. Now it is a booming oil town, growing so rapidly that half of its population lives in tents.

Huge derricks can be seen nearby. Twenty-five miles north of here are many active operations. Drilling for "liquid gold" is going on constantly. Real estate men are busy, and scores of business men from other parts come in daily, seeking possible locations.

Yes, Shelby's glory is just beginning.

ANTI-SALOON HEAD RAPS DR. BUTLER

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 21.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, who is now abroad, was made the target of an attack last night by William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, who spoke at a community mass meeting in Calvary Baptist church.

Dr. Butler, Mr. Anderson said, "has launched a new tirade against prohibition. There is a report that he has a secret reason for his venom."

"VIII Dr. Butler ask the United States attorney for the southern district of New York to state publicly the amount of truth in the report that Dr. Butler's own personal plumage has been ruffled sufficiently with respect to the enforcement of the law to intensify the virulent already in his disposition on the question?"

"Dr. Butler knows what I mean, whether he will admit it or not, and there are others who know what I mean, even if wets are shielded where they come in for undue publicity. And if Dr. Butler insists that he does not know and asks me to do so, I will tell the public what this report is."

"The 'new tirade against prohibition' referred to, Mr. Anderson said, was an interview Dr. Butler gave to the New York World shortly before he sailed for Europe."

Mr. Anderson quoted the Columbia head as saying in that interview: "The prohibition mania is the most violent and obnoxious form of intolerance that I have ever known. Its spirit and its methods are those of the Salem witch-burners of the 17th century. It has no regard for the constitution, save the 18th amendment, and no regard for law, save the Volstead act."

Occupation of Constantinople between April, 1919, and March, 1923, cost England $100,000,000.

LOWELL PEOPLE AT AYER CONFERENCE

Twenty young people and four chaperones represented Lowell at the Junior organization of the North Middlesex Conference of Unitarian churches, which held its second conference and rally in the Unitarian church at Ayer Saturday. Rev. A. C. McGiffert of All Souls church, led the congregation in the morning sing, which opened the conference.

Plans were outlined at the meeting to ask the co-operation of the Senior North Middlesex organization in making the Junior association permanent. After luncheon moving pictures of the Isle of Shoals, the conference center of Unitarians and Congregationalists, off Portsmouth, were shown on the screen. "The Ghost Story," a one-act comedy by Booth Tarkington, was presented by the young people of All Souls church of Lowell, at the evening entertainment. The efforts of the Lowell performers were much appreciated by the conference audience. After the play Miss Edith M. Eskine, director of the performance, was presented with a bouquet of flowers, the gift of members in the cast, in appreciation of her coaching. Dancing following the play marked the end of the conference.

PRES. WARFIELD SCORES R. R. EXECUTIVES

NEW YORK, May 21.—S. Davis Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad Co., scored as untenable the position of railroad executives who favor preservation of the transportation act, without amendment while they at the same time ignore provision of the act for joint use of equipment and other facilities, in his annual report to stockholders, made public last night.

He pointed out that the rate-making provisions of the act were granted in recognition by congress of the relation that one railroad bears to another and were coupled in the act with definite inter-carrier responsibilities. Many executives having now approved the rate-making provisions are opposing the provisions for joint equipment and fairly uses, he said.

Dismissing proposed consolidation, Mr. Warfield urged that permissive consolidations be encouraged and allowed to take place as the necessity for them is proven, but that the "enforced concentration of railroads" be delayed until opportunity is afforded to work out the desired service and economies through the establishment of the means to obtain more extended use of existing facilities.

Public Now Prefers Vegetable Laxatives

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin affords prompt relief in a natural way

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

THE public is constantly becoming more discriminating in its choice of things. Those subject to constipation try to learn what makes them constipated, and then avoid it. If constipation persists in spite of all their efforts they take the mildest, most easily tolerated laxative obtainable, and not a drastic physic that upsets them for days afterwards. As over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are sold a year, a large proportion of the people of this country must believe that this mild vegetable compound is the proper remedy for them, and so it is. No need to take salt waters and powders that dry up the blood, coal-tar drugs in candy form that produce skin eruptions, or calomel that salivates. These drugs are "heroic measures", over-effective, weakening and gripping.

The best constipation remedy is the one that moves the bowels without shock to your system, and such a one is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and has been satisfactorily sold for 30 years. Unlike the harsher physics it does not produce a habit, and increased doses are not required; in fact, it so trains the stomach muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.

Many take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin once a week as a health safeguard. Others use it only when required, as, for example, Mrs. J. W. Burroughs of Little Rock, Ark., who finds it equally valuable for herself and the children, and Mr. Enas S. Costa of Watsonville, Cal., whose family uses it regularly. Try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in constipation, biliousness, piles, headaches, sallow complexion, and to break up fevers and colds. A generous-size bottle can be had at any drug store, and it costs only about a cent a dose.

MANY BRUSH FIRES

There were three alarms for brush fire in North Billerica yesterday afternoon. The first was shortly after noon, for a blaze on the shores of Nutting's lake. The second was at 1:05 o'clock, for a brush fire on the Manning road, and the last was at 1:30 o'clock, for another grass fire on the shore of Nutting's lake. There was no damage.
